THE FLEET ILLUMINATION.

Good Views of the Spectacle to Be Had from Jamestown and the Boulevard Shore.

This afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock Admiral Schroeder will give the citizens in Newport and Jamestown, as well as the officers of the army and navy, a reception on board flagship Connecticut, and the indications are that, big as the ship looks, she will seem small and crowded, for the reception promises to be a record-breaker for attendance.

This evening, from 8 to 10, the ships will illuminate. This is the show for everybody in Newport and Jamestown, ashore and afloat, and it should be a pretty picture. Judging by the evenings for the past few days the weather conditions should be ideal. There may be some wind, but that will not bother those ashore, and there may not be enough to bother those afloat.

The ideal place to see the ships illuminated is of course Jamestown, from which it looks as though the whole United States navy were in the bay. There are ships about everywhere. Of course even all that are in the bay are not immediately in front of Jamestown, for some are off the Torpedo Station and others above Rose island. From the Jamestown boats a fine view can be had, going and coming.

Fine views can be had from Newport, also. The first place is Fort Greene, which gives a good view of the fleet. Above, from the Van Zandt Avenue pier north along the new boulevard, the extension of Washington street so much talked of, is a still better place. To reach the shore at the new boulevard one should go via Third street and Van Zandt avenue. From this boulevard one can have a good view of the ships north of Rose island, those back of the Torpedo Station and those off the Jamestown shore. The latter may seem doubled up, but this is the place to see them, from Newport.

A long-distance view can be had from the shore at King Park and pier.

FOR THE FLEET OFFICERS.

Berwind Ball at "The Elms" the Social Event of the Season.

Other Entertainments in Large Numbers at Homes of Summer Residents.

The special event of Friday evening, and in fact the social event of the present season, was the ball given by Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Berwind at "The Elms" in honor of Rear Admiral Schroeder, commander-in-chief, and the officers of the Atlantic fleet, now in the outer harbor. There were between 300 and 400 present, including, in addition to the fleet officers, army officers from Fort Adams, naval officers from the Naval Station, Narragansett Bay, a large number of foreigners, members of the diplomatic corps and others, who are spending the summer in Newport or are guests of residents, and practically everybody in society among the cottage residents.

Among the guests were four retired admirals of the navy, Rear Admirals Stephen B. Luce, French E. Chadwick, Charles S. Sperry and William H. Everett, and five active—Rear Admiral Raymond P. Rodgers, each the division commanders, Rear Admirals Schroeder, Comly, Murdock and Vreeland. A large number of the army and naval officers, appeared in full dress uniforms. Mr. and Mrs. Berwind received their guests in the drawing room, Lieutenant John P. Jackson, U. S. N., aide to Rear Admiral Rodgers, and Lieutenant E. T. Constein of the Naval War College, presenting the visiting officers.

The grounds and terraces were extensively decorated. On the upper and lower terraces at the west of the house were placed large rugs and the paths leading from the terraces were carpeted in red and outlined with red fairy cups. The winding paths from the terraces leading down on either side of the lawn to the pergola and central fountain were well lighted with variegated cups, the fountain and lily pond were illuminated with floating flower bulbs, and the two large willow trees arching the fountain effectively brought out with red ball lanterns. The sunken garden and all the flower beds on each side of the lawn were outlined with variegated cups. For the illuminations and exterior decorations Landers & Son used more than 5,000 lights in making an artistic display which added materially to the natural beauty of the extensive grounds.

The floral decorations of the house were executed by the employes of Mr. Berwind and many of the flowers and plants came from his extensive greenhouses. American Beauty roses prevailed and a large number of those were placed in vases about the rooms, the permanent decorations of the house making it unnecessary to add the usual set floral piece. The table decorations for the supper, which was served in two large rooms during the ball, were also arranged by the employes of Mr. Berwind.

Two orchestras, Mullaly's from the Casino and Conrad's Metropolitan, played a continual program of music during the dancing.

Mrs. Whitney Warren gave a luncheon Friday afternoon at her residence on Narragansett avenue for Secretary of the Navy Meyer, Rear Admiral Schroeder and other officers of the fleet.

In the early evening Commodore and Mrs. Arthur Curtiss James gave a dinner on flagship Aloha in honor of Admiral Schroeder. The guests included Admiral and Mrs. Schroeder, Lieutenant Roger Williams, aide to the admiral; Captain and Mrs. W. F. Fullam, Commander and Mrs. Mark L. Bristol, Commodore and Mrs. Edwin D. Morgan, Commodore and Mrs. Lewis Cass Ledyard, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss, Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Brown, Dr. and Mrs. Walter H. James, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Hoffman, Mrs. E. H. G. Slater and Mr. Eliot Gregory. The floral decorations by Leikens were specially elaborate, the centrepiece being a floral representation of battleship Connecticut, with the broad admiral's pennant at the peak.

Duke Franz Josef of Bavaria, accompanied by Captain von Lusson, his personal aide, and Count George Wedel of the German embassy at Washington, is guest of Mrs. Ogden Goelet at "Ochre Court." Congressman and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth are also guests of Mrs. Goelet, who entertained at luncheon and dinner Friday in their honor. She will give a ball this evening in honor of the duke, entertaining practically the whole summer colony.

Mr. Lispenard Stewart gave a dinner Friday evening at "White Lodge" in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spencer Witherbee and Miss Evelyn Witherbee, who are his guests. Dinners were also given by Mrs. Payne Whitney, Mrs. Ellen French Vanderbilt, Mrs. J. F. D. Lanier, Mrs. Edward C. Knight, Mrs. Joseph R. Dilworth, Mrs. William E. Carter, Mrs. Clarence W. Dolan and Mrs. John R. Drexel. Dolan, Mrs. John R. Drexel and Rev. and Mrs. George Grenville Merrill.

Luncheons were given earlier in the day by Mrs. Willard Brown, Mrs. Barger Wallach and Mrs. Oliver G. Jennings.

Rear Admiral and Mrs. French E. Chadwick will give a dinner this evening at "Twin Oaks" in honor of their niece, Miss Margaret Chadwick Heck, and afterwards will take their guests to Mrs. Goelet's ball.

BUSY NIGHT FOR POLICE.

Assaults and Scrimmages and Soldiers, Sailors and Civilians Gathered In.

Friday was the "banner" night for the police. There were soldiers and sailors, civilians and about all colors to gather in. There were charges of assaults on officers, there were assaults not on officers, and even Little Compton came in this morning, officially, in the person of the Town Sergeant, with an automobile speeder.

One drunk was fined $5 and costs. Usually he has received $2 and costs, and when the price was raised the man who usually pays refused to meet the advance and at last accounts the $7.60 was still unpaid. All the others were released.

A soldier was fined in all, with costs, $17.20, for assault on an officer and another man. It was paid.

A sailor had to pay damages for taking a flag. He would have escaped if the naval patrol had held him after the police turned him over, but he patrol let him go and he was caught in another scrimmage and this morning was obliged to pay for damaging a flag which he tore down.

A man who was much the worse for a fight and contact with an officer's club paid $5 and costs, and the doctor charged $3 for fixing him up.

Two, for revelling on Long wharf, were held up but later released. In addition, a sailor was brought up from Cannon street, where he had been beaten by two other sailors, who escaped. He was cared for by the patrol.

A woman fell on Beach street and was taken to the hospital by the police. Then there was a fire, so that the officers knew there was something doing. They even took part in the "protection" of the "Silver King's" place, by driving away the gathering of citizens and helping make that part of the street passable.

From Little Compton this morning came Town Sergeant Pierce and John O'Brien, a chauffeur who was caught speeding. The court said $15 and costs and O'Brien's surplus was reduced $23.60.

AT FREEBODY PARK NEXT WEEK.

So great a laughing hit has been made this week at Freebody Park by Billie Burke's "Models of the Jardin De Paris" that Mr Sheedy has secured another of his productions, said to be funnier still, for next week. It is the musical comedy, "The Foolish Factory," introducing the character comedian, George Hickman; the versatile Six O'Connor Sisters, Ada, Anna, Mary, Katie, Nellie and Vera, and a company of ten. The scene is laid at a sanatorium for incurably rich editors, where every nurse is a poetess and all the doctors pinochle fiends. Another attraction will be a trans-Atlantic novelty, Transfield's Comedy Circus, with trained ponies, educated dogs and the saucy sprideable mule, "Wise Pete," whose antics create great merriment.

Other acts on the program are the Two Roses in a musical offering; Elsie Faye, singing and dancing comedienne; Burns and Lawrence, topical vocalists, known as "the Rathskeller Duo;" the Three Renauds, European aerial acrobats and gymnasts; Lester and Kellett, repartee and conversational comedy couple, and the Four Henrys, English novelty and whirlwind dancers, now making their first appearance in America.

FUNERAL OF R. HAMMETT TILLEY.

The funeral of R. Hammett Tilley, Friday afternoon at his late residence on Hope street, was attended by representatives of the organizations of which he was a member, including the Newport Historical Society, the Rhode Island Society of Colonial Wars and the Sons of the Revolution, and others who had been connected with him in official life. There were also representatives of the Daughters of the American Revolution, with which his daughter is prominently connected. The Protestant Episcopal service was read by Rev. George Vernon Dicker, rector of St. George's Church. The committal was in the Island cemetary this morning, there being no bearers.

THREE SAILORS SENTENCED IN FALL RIVER.

It was not the story of three men in a boat, but of three men off a boat, which gave the Fall River papers their big local article Friday. The three men were from battleship Rhode Island, and had drunk all they needed and had bottles of beer which they did not need, and which they insisted in drinking in a Chinese restaurant. They did other things and the police were called, and when they arrived the Chinaman was defending himself with a cleaver as the best he could and having the worst of it. Then the sailors had the worst of it from the police, and they complained that the Chinaman had assaulted them first. When they appeared in court the court discharged the Chinaman and said four months in jail for each of the three tars.

ASKED FOR PROTECTION AND HAD IT.

The naval patrol put the "Silver King's" place out of business for some time Friday night. It was a case of calling a bluff; the proprietor said he needed protection, and he had it. The patrol cleared all the sailors from the place and stationed guards at each door, so that no more could get in, and the guards did their duty. Any one but a sailor could enter. The call was too strong, as the place needed the sailor trade, and finally the services of some of the city officials were called into use to have the "protection" removed. The shut-up had a salutary effect on the neighborhood, however.

AT COUNTESS SWIRSKY'S DANCE RECITAL.

Countess Thamara de Swirsky, at her dance recital at Freebody Park, will be assisted by Chevalier Eugenio Torre, a tenor from the Metropolitan Opera House. The countess will present for the first time in this country the Peer Gynt suite of four dances by Grieg, three Star dances by Dvorak, and the "Tanagra" dances, including "Orpheo" by Gluck, Prelude by Rachmaninoff, "Thedermauss" by Strauss, "Musetta" by Gluck and "Bacchanal," by Glazounoff. Chevalier Torre will sing "Quelfizz," from Bizet's "Carmen;" a group of Neapolitan songs and selections from "La Boheme," by Puccini. The attendance of a large number of naval officers is assured.

CARE OF STATE RECORDS.

Placed in Charge of the State Librarian and Miss Tilley to be Appointed Deputy.

Both branches of the General Assembly passed an act Friday giving the state librarian charge of the office of the state record commissioner. The act originated in the senate, and was adopted in concurrence when it came to the house. R. Hammett Tilley, late record commissioner, died this week and the act provides a new head to his department. Mr. Tilley had served on the commission since 1896.

Senator Sanborn, in explaining the act, said it made no change from the old order, except in the provision for the appointment of a deputy. This deputy, it was said, would be Miss Edith M. Tilley, daughter of the late commissioner. The act follows:

"The state librarian, ex-officio, is hereby appointed a person to be known as state record commissioner with full power to appoint a deputy to do all things by law required of the state record commissioner, whose duty it shall be to prepare for the use of the state a detailed report of the number, kind and condition of the various public records in the custody and under control of state, city and town officers in this state, and such parish or church records as may be obtainable relating to extinct or active church organizations in said state, and, as far as possible, of the records and place of deposit in other states relating to the several cities and towns in the state of Rhode Island; for the purposes aforesaid the sum of $600 be and the same is hereby annually appropriated, and the state auditor is hereby directed to allow such bills for the same as may be approved by the governor and pay the same from any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

"The duties imposed upon the person heretofore known as state record commissioner, appointed under resolution passed at the January session in 1896, and all subsequent resolutions, shall in the future be completed by the state record commissioner provided for in section 1 of this act."

MALFEASANCE IN OFFICE CHARGED.

Chief of Police Caswell of The Pier Arrested.

Vice President of Narragansett Club Also Held.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, Aug. 20.—Chief of Police James D. Caswell was arrested today on a warrant charging malfeasance in office, as a result of the raid on the Narragansett Club, a week ago Sunday morning, at which Chief Caswell is alleged to have tried to protect the gamblers. William E. Arnold, vice president of the club, was also arrested for the second time on the charge of maintaining a gambling nuisance. Both arrests were made by Constable John G. Cross, who created a sensation by raiding the exclusive Narragansett Club when it was filled with well known society women and men, Sunday morning August 7.

Arnold was apprehended in front of the Narragansett Club. He was taken across the street to the office of Justice of the Peace Watts, where he was released on bonds of $1,000 for a hearing Monday. After leaving Watts's office, Cross then walked up the street and, seeing the chief of police, invited him into a doorway, where he read the warrant to him charging him with neglecting and refusing to enforce the law, while acting as town sergeant and chief of police, by allowing the operation of gambling houses. The chief was not very much surprised as he had said before that he was aware of the fact that Cross was planning to arrest him. He walked with the young constable to Watts's office. Where Mrs. Watts furnished bail in $300 bonds and he was released for a hearing Monday.

This is the second time both men have been arrested on similar charges. About three years ago Chief Caswell was arrested by Cross for malfeasance in office, but Judge Lewis of the district court, acquitted him. Arnold was arrested on the morning of the raid for a like offense. He pleaded not guilty, with the privilege of withdrawing his plea, which he did last Monday, filing a demurrer with the object of quashing the warrant. Arguments are to be heard on the demurrer next Monday.

The morning of Sunday, August 7, when Constable Cross, with a few of his friends whom he had deputized, entered the club, where more than 30 people, half of whom were leading society women alleged to have been gambling, Chief Caswell and his men, Constable Cross alleges, declined to assist him even when ordered to do so by Assistant Attorney General Harry F. Cross. Constable Cross himself and nearly all of his small band were arrested on technical charges of assault, while Cross was standing guard over the roulette wheels and other gambling paraphernalia which he had captured and a few minutes after he was arrested the evidence was taken away in automobiles and hidden. It has not yet been located.

STEAMER ARRIVED.

New York, Aug. 20.—Philadelphia from Southampton and Cherbourg.

DIDN'T MIND THE RAIN.

Largest Crowd of the Week at the Closing Clambake.

In Addition to Hundreds of Sailors, Large Numbers of Citizens Served.

Even unpredicted rains could not "phase" the Newport fleet entertainers and the third bake was given successfully, a few hours late, Friday afternoon. After the downpour things were damp naturally, but not wet enough to deter the biggest crowd of clam eaters from gathering which has been seen on the grounds.

Through the failure of orders to reach the fleet in time to stop some of the ships' details from landing, and hence a general mix-up in arrangements, there was no united parade to the grounds. Some detachments marched and others straggled but on foot or in the cars. At 3:30 o'clock there were more than 1,000 blue jackets on the ground, waiting to be invited to eat. The chowder was cooked and so were the clams, and orders were given to begin serving. Apparently the party which then tackled the bake, a half-hour before the time announced, enjoyed it more than any who had sat down during the week.

For the next hour the men from the fleet arrived and a surprisingly large number found the grounds and enjoyed the feast. There were fully 2,500 of them, which was doing exceedingly well, considering the disorganized manner in which they were forced to make the trip to the grounds. Then there were nearly 500 Training Station boys, and with the help on the grounds and the hundreds of citizens who were waiting for the guard to be withdrawn that they might go to the tables, it may safely be said that nearly 4,500 persons were fed on this fast day, and even then quantities of food were taken from the grounds to homes. Like the previous days, everything seemed to be cooked just right.

The Heavy Shower.

The afternoon rain had come so suddenly on the fully set tables that soup plates were half filled with water, hundreds of packages of cigarettes were ruined and much of the crackers white bread and brown bread were destroyed, but a large portion of this was replaced by fresh material after the rain was over.

The men in uniform took the rain without a grumble, and the guards and apprentice seamen who were on duty about the tables were obliged to stick to their posts most of the time, lest the citizens who could not be driven away by rain should rush the tables.

When the shower passed the grounds soon came into good condition, except about the serving tables, bakes and such places as were subjected to a great deal of tramping. There the sticky mud was improved by the distribution of straw and litter. This mud was the most disagreeable feature of the day, because it was more lasting and yet when the citizens broke into the grounds they fairly wallowed in it without complaint.

The unoccupied tables, which were few, were soon filled by civilians. They were served by waiters, but the overflow shifted for itself. Some stood and ate, taking a handful of this and that; others were a little more particular and carried what they could collect to tables which had been used once. The citizens were of all kinds and in all stations of life.

In No Hurry to Leave.

After the sailors had eaten there seemed to be no great haste on their part to leave. There was a large crowd of them on the grounds until after 6 o'clock and many remained until dark. "It was great," "Beat anything the fleet has been against yet," and "Newport has gone herself proud," were common remarks by the boys. Even the apprentices, while soaked to the skin from the rain, were a cheerful set as they said they had had a good time and in years to come would be shipmates with some of the bluejackets they had helped serve, and could then tell them how they had done their part in the great entertainment.

Crowds Out Again in the Evening.

After one slack night, Thursday, when it seemed that the interest waned, there was another big turnout on the streets Friday evening. The report that there was to be a concert on Washington square by the Fort Adams band brought a large gathering to that section, but there has been a large gathering there every night. On Thames street and Broadway and about every other street there was a turnout of people which showed that people had not yet tired, though they did take a night off Thursday. There were not as many automobiles and drags out as on Wednesday, but a great many people moving about. The weather was fine and the air cool, and people enjoyed it and stayed out later than on previous nights.

The colored lights on the street have about yielded up their color. Repeated rainfalls have washed away enough of the lacquer which gives them the hue to make them look, at a distance, like all white lights. Occasionally a red one still asserts its color, but the blues have bleached into white. The strings at the City Hall have changed to white and red, the blues being washed so that none of that color shows, except directly underneath. The reds there are still in good working order.

Clearing Up Afterward.

As much clearing up was done after the bake as practicable, but really little could be done and so an early start was made this morning, putting together everything which was to be sold at auction. The dish washers had the principal burden, though there were far less pieces than there were Tuesday.

Of course some shortage is to be expected after such an event, but if the way in which the white uniforms served out to the workers, more than 200 in number, came in can be taken as a gauge, the shortage will be remarkably small. There were just three men who failed to turn in this property.

The number of teams which appeared this morning for the clearance of the field of borrowed property was good and the great task of breaking camp was fairly on. After all articles of value are taken away there promises to be a huge work in clearing the

HARPOON SECURES THE TAFT CUP.

Wins Fourth in Series of Races Off Marblehead.

Chonta, Nearest Spanish Boat, Far Astern of Americans.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., Aug. 20.—President Taft saw the American Sonder yacht Harpoon, owned and sailed by C. F. Adams 2d, win the cup that bears the name of the chief magistrate, in the fourth race against the Spanish challengers today. The Beaver, owned and sailed by C. H. W. Foster was second, and the Cima, Guy Lowell's entry third. The Spaniards were beaten worse today than before, the Chonta being two miles astern when the Harpoon crossed the finish line. The Mosquito II turned the outer mark, only a minutes before the Harpoon was saluted as the winner.

The official elapsed times for the race were: Harpoon, 2:14:30; Beaver, 2:16:37; Cima, 2:18:37; Chonta, 2:46:47; Papoose, 3:38:26, Mosquito II 2:41:11.

The Spanish Sonder yachtsmen had their last chance today of winning the President Taft cup, in the international series with the American defenders. They will still have an opportunity to contest for her for the Governor Draper cup, which is awarded on points. Under the rules, only winners of the first four races of the series can continue, yet the descendants of the ancient Spanish navigators who sizzled a way around the world, went out for today's contest with the Yankee yachts, happy in the thought that they had gained the real object of their American visit.

From the day of their arrival, a little Beaver and Cima and the Spanish yachtsmen have declared that the winning of silver trophies was the last object of their visit. What they endeavored to accomplish in America was a better knowledge of Sonder yacht racing of American methods in world-wide sport, and principally to obtain the good will of their host and the commendation of the yachting world as good sportsmen. So in starting off today, for what they all believed to be their last American outing, the foreigners declared that they had won at least a majority of their desires and hoped that they had secured the firm friendship of the Americans.

This spirit has been uppermost in the international series this year. While every crew has sailed to win, and the contest especially between the three American yachts, Harpoon, Beaver and Cima, and the Spanish yacht Chonta, has been nearly always close and exciting, all hands seemed to have felt that there were more victories ashore than afloat, and the morning and afternoon gatherings before and after the races, with the evening's entertainment, have been the pleasantest features of the international races this year.

In starting the race today the Harpoon had two legs and the Beaver one on the President Taft cup, while for the Draper cup, the Beaver had 15 points, the Cima 14, the Harpoon 12, the Chonta 10, the Papoose 8, and the Mosquito II, 6. As a yacht cannot take both prizes, the contest today was apparently narrowed to the three American boats and the Chonta. The Eastern Yacht Club also gives two prizes today for the first and second boats.

When the yachts got outside they found a six-mile breeze blowing from the east, for the windward and leeward race. The sea was fairly smooth and the sky was clear.

There was a good whole sail breeze when the yachts started on the race at 11:10 o'clock, with the Cima in the lead. The struggle for position at the line was the best of the week and the six boats were over within 15 seconds after signal. The Cima was well to the windward and immediately jockeyed away. Within a few minutes it was seen that another duel was on between the Beaver and Harpoon. For the first 10 minutes the Beaver had the better of it, but then the Harpoon pulled ahead and the Beaver tacked away. At 11:39 o'clock the Cima had come up and joined the fight, while the three Spanish boats dropped gradually astern. The first leg was a beat to windward. The spectator fleet was large.

The Harpoon had a lead of 28 seconds over the Beaver, at the outer mark, while the Cima was one minute, 12 seconds behind the Beaver. The three Spanish boats were far in the rear. On the run down the wind to the home mark the Cima pulled up a bit on the two leaders, but the Harpoon still led the Beaver by 37 seconds, when the home mark was turned on the first round. On the beat to windward, on the second leg of the course, the American boats met their Spanish rivals running down the wind to the leeward mark.

President Taft arrived on yacht Sylph from Beverly at 11:35 o'clock and was given a salute of 21 guns by the Androscoggin, the flagship of the revenue cutter fleet. The President had some difficulty, at first, in locating the Spanish boats as they were more than a mile astern of the Americans but with the assistance of Captain Ross, commander of the Sylph, he finally managed to identify the challengers.

FORCED TO DESCEND.

Moissant, Chicago Aviator, Gives Up Last Leg of London Flight.

CHATHAM, England, August 20.—John B. Moissant, the Chicago aviator, who was forced to descend at Rainham, four miles from here, by an accident to his aeroplane Thursday, ascended at 6:20 this morning on the last leg of his flight to London. A strong wind was blowing and he was forced to descend. He also had trouble with his apparatus and after his descent was obliged to take the machinery of his monoplane to pieces. It is doubtful if he will be able to start on the last 25 miles of his journey today.

THREE OFFICERS HELD.

Arrests in Illinois Central Graft Case, and More to Follow.

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—The sensational $1,500,000 graft case of the Illinois Central Railroad gave a new thrill to the public today, when three former executive officers of the company were arrested, and it was announced that other well known railroad men will be soon taken into custody. The men arrested are: Frank B. Harriman, formerly general manager of the road; Charles L. Ewing, formerly manager of lines north of the Ohio river, and John M. Taylor, formerly general storekeeper of the road.

The warrants sworn to by J. T. Harahan, president of the road, charge the three men with conspiracy to cheat and defraud the railroad by false pretenses and with operating a confidence game. Harriman and Ewing were taken to a police station and their bonds of $10,000 each were signed by a professional bondsman.

The allegations in the graft case are startling. The investigation began a year ago. It reached a crisis last spring when President Harahan began actions to recover sums said to aggregate more than $1,000,000, alleged to have been taken from the road by car repair companies in connivance with high officials of the road. Harriman, Ewing, Taylor and many others of less magnitude resigned their positions. Much of the money is said to have been repaid privately. The name of Ira G. Rawn, who resigned a vice presidency in the Illinois Central road to become president of the Monon system and who was found dead recently at his home with a bullet wound in his breast, was brought into the scandal. Murray Nelson, Jr., attorney for the Illinois Central, said Rawn's death headed off warrants which would have been issued for him.

Private detectives, working under the direction of President Harahan, are said to have unearthed frauds other than those connected with padded car repair bills. These are said to involve the diverting of $1,000,000 or more from new construction funds. The investigators say they have procured several the name of Ewing into the case for the first time.

"I am perfectly innocent of any and all charges made against me," said Mr. Harriman. "I have always been true to my friends and I want them to know that I was always true to the Illinois Central."

Harriman's connection with the Illinois Central covered a period of 31 years. He began as a civil engineer's apprentice, and rose through the grades of construction engineer, trafic master and division superintendent to the general managership.

MILLIONS OF SPINDLES IDLE.

Mills Throughout New England to Close for a Week or Two.

BOSTON, Aug. 19.—Millions of spindles in the cotton mills of the country will be idle for periods varying from one week to 16 days, during the latter part of this month and the first half of September. Mills in New England employing 50,000 operatives have already posted notices announcing a further curtailment and it is understood that similar action will be taken by many other concerns. In the Southern states more than 3,000,000 spindles will be idle one week in September.

In New England a number of mills shut down tonight until September 6. Clinton, Lancaster Gingham Mills, Dover, N. H., Everett Mills, Lawrence, and other plants in the latter city. Other concerns will close as follows: Clinton, Lancaster Gingham Mills, September 2 to September 12; Biddeford, Maine, Pepperell and Laconia Mills, September 3 to 12; Saco, Maine, York Mills, September 3 to September 12; Greenville, N. H., Columbian Mills, August 20 to August 29; Manchester, N. H., Amoskeag Manufacturing Company, August 26 to September 12. The Tremont and Suffolk mills and other Lowell corporations will also suspend.

The two Chace Mills in Burlington, Vt., have closed for an indefinite period and the Queen City Mills, Burlington, are running half time. A short time policy among numerous other corporations in New England will be continued during September, according to the outlook.

COOK'S STATEMENT UNTRUE.

Professor Parker to Prove He Never Scaled Mt. McKinley.

SEWARD, Alaska, Aug. 19.—The Parker-Browne Mount McKinley expedition passed through Seward today, sailing on steamship Portland for Seattle, having been unsuccessful in its efforts to scale the peak. Members of the expedition assert that they have conclusive evidence that Dr. Cook did not reach the summit.

The members of the Parker and Browne party corroborate the statements made by C. E. Ruck, who recently led an unsuccessful Mount McKinley expedition, that the peak climbed by Dr. Cook and used in his photographs as Mount McKinley is a smaller peak easier of access and 10 miles away from the real summit. Professor Herschel Parker, who is at the head of the expedition just returned, took photographs of lower peaks. These, he says, will prove that Dr. Cook's assertion that he climbed Mount McKinley is not true.

Professor Parker places no credence in the assertions made by Tom Lloyd of Fairbanks and his associates that they climbed the mountain from the Fairbanks side.

Those in the party who returned today are Professor Herschel Parker of Columbia University, Belmont Browne of Tacoma, Professor G. C. Cuntz of Stevens Institute, Hoboken, N. J., Herman L. Tucker of Newton, Mass., Waldemar Crassi of Columbia University and Merle Leroy, an Alaskan packer.

WEST POINT TO HAVE MAJOR GENERAL AT ITS HEAD.

Major General Thomas H. Barry, who has just been succeeded as commander of the Department of California by Brigadier General Tasker H. Bliss, will arrive in Washington next Thursday, on his way to West Point to become superintendent of the Military Academy. This will be the first time in more than a quarter of a century that the academy has been headed by a major general. From 1876 to 1881 Major General Scofield was superintendent of the academy. From 1881 to 1882 Brigadier General O. O. Howard, appointed to the superintendency as a brevet major general, was at the school. These are the only two instances in which officers of this high rank have done duty at the school.

COGGESHALL AGAIN.

Wins Weekly Rifle Match of Providence Revolver Club With a Score of 461.

The weekly match of the Providence Revolver Club Friday evening brought out seven men. The scores were varied, ranging from a good 461 to a poor 326.

Coggeshall, with his winning streak still holding good, made first place with 461; Henderson, a comparatively new man at the game, took second place with a good 446; Almy came next with 444, while Brooks and Thurston tied at 434 each. Peckham had an off night and was able to make only 399. Barry, who has never shot a match before and is just starting to use a rifle, made two scores which, while not good compared with regular shooters, are good for a beginner. The scores follow:

P. Coggeshall	231	230——461
W. Henderson	220	226——446
W. Almy	216	228——444
P. Brooks	215	219——434
W. Thurston	218	216——434
J. Peckham	198	201——399
J. Barry	167	159——326

POLO POSTPONED AGAIN.

Players Enjoy Dance at Point Judith Club—Harry Rich Wins Derby Race for Ponies.

Play in the polo tournament at Narragansett Pier was again postponed yesterday because of showers. Members of the English polo team were not well pleased with this change of schedule, one of them declaring that in England a polo match would not be cancelled owing to a summer rain. "At the rate we are going," he said, "the polo tournament will last into the middle of September." This remark, however, was applauded by all who heard it, for polo has taken Narragansett by storm this season and an extension of the tournament is exactly what is hoped for.

The players found ample solace for lack of exercise in social entertaining planned as a compliment to them. The chief event was a dinner dance at the Point Judith Country Club. Polo men were conspicuous in the dinner parties, of which there were a dozen, the old Colonial interior of the club house having a beautiful setting of vines and wild flowers.

During the afternoon at the Pier Harry Rich of London, riding his English pony, Little Billy, won a Derby race for polo ponies. E. W. Hopping, of Hartford, also on an English pony, finished second, two lengths behind Rich, while Devereaux Milburn, of the Meadow Brook team, was third.

Fully 2,000 persons witnessed the race, which took place on the bathing beach and was for a cup offered by the Casino company. The entries were: D. Milburn, Shamrock; H. Tweed, Thistle; H. Rich, Little Billy; M. G. Rosengarten, Peggy; E. W. Hopping, Skiddoo; H. P. Smith, Jerry. John R. Fell also rode. The cup was presented to Mr. Rich by Mrs. William H. Coombs at a luncheon at the Casino after the race.

ASSETS AMOUNT TO $125,000.

Members of American Legion of Honor Entitled to Pro Rata Shares.

BOSTON, Aug. 19.—The fifth report of Henry A. Wyman, receiver of the American Legion of Honor, presented to Judge Rugg of the superior judicial court today, shows that the 3,500 members remaining in good standing are entitled to a pro rata share in assets amounting to about $125,000, although their total claims reach nearly $2,000,000. Many of these certificate holders live in California, New Orleans, Texas, Pennsylvania and New York, and they have been given until May 31, 1911, to prove claims. The order of the court will apply to all members who paid assessment No. 114, which reduced the amount of the certificate and increased the assessment. Judgments of nearly $400,000, obtained in the courts of Texas against the Legion of Honor, have not been recognized by the Massachusetts supreme court, as these judgments were not obtained until after a receiver had been appointed here.

CONFIRMS BEALL'S SENTENCE.

Lieutenant Reduced Thirty-One Numbers and Reprimanded by Secretary Winthrop.

Ignoring a plea for clemency, Acting Secretary of the Navy Winthrop has confirmed a sentence against Lieutenant Grafton A. Beall, U. S. N., of Battleship Delaware, who was court-martialled for being asleep on watch. Lieutenant Beall will suffer a reduction of 31 numbers in the list. It was also recommended by the court-martial board that Lieutenant Beall be publicly reprimanded by the Secretary of the Navy. His offense consisted in being below while officer of the deck on board the Delaware in Hampton Roads July 5 before it was his time to turn up, and being found asleep in his stateroom. The court-martial of which Captain Roy C. Smith of the Naval War College, was president, was held here about three weeks ago, when the Delaware was anchored in the outer harbor.

It is stated at the Navy Department that Lieutenant Beall set up in his defense a plea that he had smoked a cigarette on an empty stomach, was tired out and sleepy, and did not at the time he went below know that his hour of duty on deck had not expired. Mr. Winthrop said Lieutenant Beall escaped luckily with a reduction of 31 numbers, and that he could have been dismissed from the service for the fault. Mr. Winthrop has written Lieutenant Beall, reprimanding him.

Lieutenant Beall was born in West Virginia and entered the navy from that state. He was graduated from the Naval Academy September 23, 1901.

NO WIND FOR THE RACE.

Visiting Yachtsmen Entertained at Clubhouse by Members of Newport Association.

There was no race in the Narragansett Bay Yacht Racing Association schedule Friday afternoon. One was to have been held by the Newport Yacht Club, but the rain came down hard and washed away what wind had prevailed in the morning, and when the rain stopped and the sun tried to come out there was no wind. The skippers and regatta committee waited until 4 o'clock, when it was decided to abandon the race. It was then so late that if the boats started, unless a good breeze sprung up, they could not finish before dark. As a matter of fact, a good breeze did come in about 4:45, from the northeast, but it was too late. The skippers were generally tired after the race and the rain of the morning and were as well pleased not to have a race, though some would have liked to add another win to their score.

Mr. L. Kane was over from Saunderstown with the Momo to give Mr. Frost in the Medric an opportunity to show what his boat could do, and both were sorry there was no wind.

It had been feared that there might be no wind for the morning race at Jamestown, but it was the afternoon race that lacked the wind, though it was fairly off Bishop rock in the morning race.

Little Benny Peckham in his sailing skiff Robe was a feature of the race at Jamestown. Benny was a trifle late in reaching the start, but he said he had raced all the week and desired a clean record, and though there was no skiff race on the program the judges sent him away. He had not reached the finish when the rainstorm came.

The big Virginia, from Barnegat Bay, came into the yacht club pier in the afternoon and the local experts had an opportunity to look her over. All agreed that she was an able boat but the speed lines were absent. She stood up well under full sail outside in the race to Beaver Tail and showed excellent weatherly qualities, but any Bannister's Wharf cathoat is expected to do that right along under all conditions, and also to have some speed.

Friday night the visiting yachtsmen were entertained at the clubhouse by the members of the Newport Club. Things had dried out after the several shower baths of earlier hours and only one felt well.

Today the boats race at Bristol, this closing the week. A dinner is to be given the crews of the visiting interclub cathoats at the Belvidere and it is expected that a large number of the Association members will be there.

CHARACTER OF EGYPTIAN BEGGARS.

[O. E. Moffet in Christian Herald.]

Colonel Roosevelt's visit to Egypt has called the attention of Americans to that country. My attention was once called to it in a somewhat different manner.

While at Marseilles, France, I met a man from Ohio and passed a pleasant evening with him. We occupied adjoining rooms at the hotel. About midnight he began shouting in his sleep: "Ma fish, ma fish!" which is Arabic for "I have nothing for you." "Imshi, imshi," ("be off"). "Aba ya tik," ("May God give thee"). He repeated these phrases over and over, and tossed around in his bed. I became alarmed and, rapping on his door, asked if he were ill. "No," he replied, "I have been traveling in Egypt. Just arrived yesterday, I dreamed I was again assailed by Egyptian beggars, and have been repeating my replies to them."

In Egypt, one should never give alms, except for actual services rendered. Resist calmly but firmly every attempt at extortion. Never pay the stipulated service is finished. Even after you have paid a little more than the bargain called for, turn a deaf ear to the protestations and entreaties that always follow. Bear in mind that the more bakshish you give, the more clamorous becomes the applicant. Real thanks and gratitude are not to be expected for gifts.

A friend of mine once broke one of these rules, just to see what would happen. As we passed through a little village 20 miles from Cairo, he gave a sturdy beggar a milliems (half a cent). This beggar, accompanied by a band, followed us to the edge of the village, asking for more. My friend refused to give him a piastre (five cents), and allowed us 100 yards or so and became more persistent than before. Finally he showed a disposition to go for a knife if we gave them five piastres. They followed us half a mile and became more clamorous. I was afraid we would have trouble, and wanted him to give in, but when they began to lag, I offered them twenty piastres. They followed us two miles, and the experiment might have ended seriously had we not met a company of travelers with a dragoman who sent the beggars about their business. This may help to understand Egyptian character.

WHY MIRRORS REFLECT.

[St. Nicholas.]

Mirrors that are made of glass have metal placed on one side of the glass. Light will pass through the glass, but will not pass through the metal. Light has the property of bounding from a surface that it cannot penetrate, the same as a ball bounds when thrown against a surface that it cannot penetrate. The light passes through the glass of the mirror, meets the metal backing, and bounds from it. This bounding of light from the metal surface is called reflection, and mirrors are said to reflect.

SPECIAL SESSION ENDS.

House Passes Districting Bill After Long Debate.

Sharp Discussions and Attack on Finance Committee Mark Nine-Hour Sitting.

The General Assembly concluded its adjourned August session shortly after 9:15 Friday evening, and with the vote to adjourn sine die the legislature of 1910 ended its work. The sitting commenced before 12 o'clock and both branches were in session approximately nine hours.

Sharp attacks on one feature or another marked the proceedings of both senate and house. The lower branch fought over the districting act nearly two hours, while the senate was enlivened by a bitter arraignment of the members of the finance committee by Senator Arnold of Westerly, one of its members.

A great amount of business was rushed through in each chamber, and comparatively few of all the measures introduced at this last session failed of passage. Among these was an appropriation desired by Speaker Burch, and for the investigation of infantile paralysis, which was not reported from the senate committee on finance.

The districting measure was passed after a long and heated debate in the house, the Senate having passed the bill Thursday. Amendments which were made in the house, however, were concurred in by the senate without any opposition.

An act amending the act creating the Pawtucket-Central Falls bridge commission was passed in concurrence. It is claimed by several lawyers of the Assembly that this act as passed provides for the creation of a second bridge commission and virtually legislates the present one out of office. This was discovered too late to have the act so amended as to avoid the doubt.

The office of record commissioner was merged with that of state librarian by an act passed by both branches. R. Hammett Tilley, late record commissioner, having died, the office held by him is now given to Mr. Brigham, state librarian.

A resolution making an appropriation for a monument to be erected to the late Colonel Henry H. Young, which was inadvertently left over at the end of the spring session, was unanimously passed in concurrence.

The nine members of the districting commission were given $1,800 each as compensation for their work, the resolution being passed without discussion.

The shell fish commission was given $5,000 additional to carry on its work of investigating the pollution of the waters of Narragansett bay, and $2,000 was appropriated for training ship Alleen. Other appropriations, nearly every one under $2,000, were made.

A committee of conference to discuss a proposed amendment to the automobile law with reference to a "reciprocity clause" was unable to agree and the act was not considered by either house further.

The act creating the conservation commission urged by Governor Pothier in his special message became law, as did also the resolution authorizing the police and fire departments to use the state armories for other than military purposes.

The senate judiciary committee reported the taxation measures to that body, and the bills were transferred to the special tax commission for consideration with instructions to report at the next session of the legislature.

Mr. Nolan of Providence made several ineffectual attempts to have several committees of the house discharged from further consideration of measures, and Mr. O'Shaunessy tried the same plan once and failed.

THE ONLY WAY.

Many Newport Citizens Have Discovered It.

Just what to do when the kidneys are affected is a question that concerns both young and old. Weak kidneys neglected in childhood lead to life-long suffering. People of advanced years, with less vitality, suffer doubly. In youth or age, languor, backache urinary irregularity, dizziness and nervousness make life a burden.

There is one remedy that acts directly on the kidneys and cures these troubles. Doan's Kidney Pills owe their world-wide fame to the fact that they cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Follow the example of this Newport citizen and you will be convinced that this is so.

George C. Kaull, Cranston Ave., Newport, R. I., says: "I am not certain as to the cause of my kidney trouble but believe it was due to drinking impure water. Some time ago I was attacked with a dull ache across the lower part of my back. The kidney secretions also became scant and painful. In passage and often caused me considerable annoyance during the night. When I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills I procured a box at Wright & Hay's Drug Store and found relief upon taking the contents. The use of a second box effected a complete cure, for which I am truly grateful."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

VACATION CALENDARS.

HIS.

I mind me it was Monday when we met.
The mem'ry of those gray eyes haunts me yet.

On Tuesday we were partners in the dance.
My pulse thrilled at your most indifferent glance!

What time we crossed the lake, on Wednesday eve,
Your round arm touched my most prosaic sleeve.

Moonlight was the porch, on Thursday night,
I felt the glimmour of those tresses bright.

On Friday, as through meadows we did stroll,
Your lightest word brought rapture to my soul.

Dost thou remember, sweet, 'twas Saturday,
Those red lips stole my willing heart away?

While church bells echoed Sunday through the glen,
One whisper made me happiest of men!

HERS.

I know that an impression I had made
On Monday, with that gown, a turquoise shade!

His glances told his story, Tuesday night,
A picture I, in robe and snood of white!

In sailor suit, on Wednesday, by the lake,
I felt that he'd leave home for my dear sake!

Came Thursday, no man could forbear to flirt!
A dream was I, in new pink hobble skirt!

And when on Friday I donned a pale green frock,
My smartness gave all bystanders a shock.

On Saturday, in garb of soft gray mist,
No man my fascination could resist.

On Sunday, foxy girl, I wore pale rose,
Inevitable, that he should propose!

DUO.

Delightful days we've passed by wood and fen
Perhaps next summer we may meet again!

"'Because,' she answered, 'my twin sister takes her banjo lesson at just this hour, and I have to do something, so I thought I would study art.'"—[McDougall's Magazine.

THE BEST COFFEE.

You often see the printed card sign which reads "The Best Coffee that grows 25c. a pound." This sounds cheap to the coffee drinker, and it sounds still cheaper to the experienced coffee man who knows that the best coffee doesn't sell for any such price. If you want a cup of the most delicious coffee that you ever tasted, try our private plantation Java. You don't have to be an expert to tell the difference, your taste will tell you. SATURDAY, AUGUST 20, 1910.

EXCLUSIVE ASSOCIATED PRESS SERVICE FOR NEWPORT.

AN INSPIRATION FOR A NEW HOTEL.

After all which has been done for the sailors of the battleship fleet, the citizens of Newport may well feel that in the splendid entertainment of the past week they have not only given a great deal, but in giving so generously have also received much themselves. Rarely, if ever, have the citizens been so united in any project, given so freely of their time, money and attention, worked as one man for the end in view, and been so uniformly commended for the success of an almost stupendous undertaking. By the spirit which the sailors' entertainment has created, as manifested in the united, unstinted work of individuals to one end, Newport has shown that she is able to take care of herself and its citizens to labor together, without a single criticism or suggestion that the work could have been done better.

With this spirit in the community the suggestion that this is the time to start a successful hotel project, which every one admits Newport needs is an excellent one. Let Newport now work together for a good hotel on Bellevue avenue. There are excellent sites available, and now is the time to start the movement. If everyone works for the good of the city and the success of the enterprise, as they have for this week's entertainment, there will be little doubt of the result.

THE REPUBLICAN POSITION.

To a disinterested spectator the political situation—or, to speak more precisely, the situation of the Republican party—is one of the most curious displays in our history. The party is deeply divided, though it is exceedingly hard to tell what it is divided over, and there is rapidly growing opposition to the administration of a President who is personally popular and is not connected with any disastrous public policy.

As to corporations, is not the government prosecuting several of the trusts and investigating some others? As to railroads, has ot Congress just enacted further legislation and is not the Interstate Commerce Commission now engaged in undertaking to determine whether or not the railroads of the trunk line territory should be allowed to charge more for their services? As to the tariff, the Payne-Aldrich law makes some reductions and the Republican party has never declared for the elimination of protection. All the Republicans, even Cummins of Iowa, protest that their protectionism is above suspicion, and yet the tariff law is the subject of serious attack. Conservation? Secretary Ballinger has just told the President that nobody can remember how many million acres of coal lads have been opened to settlement as to the surface, while the minerals are reserved to be sold at the highest price. Who could do better than that?

Nevertheless, the insurgent wave goes on. Five out of six Republican candidates for Congress in Nebraska are insurgents. In the California primaries two regulars have been defeated for nomination by insurgents. Nicholas Longworth announces that he shall oppose Speaker Cannon in the caucus in the next House. There are rumors that Roosevelt will lead a general movement against the administration which he created. Altogether the situation was never more entertaining to the Democrats or more bewildering to everybody.

AMERICAN CONSERVATISM.

It seems sometimes as though there was nothing new under the sun in the way of state government, nothing which has not been tried somewhere and put to the test as to its practicability and usefulness. The reformers of this country ask for many different features of state government and those who are more conservative are inclined to call them radical, but if a glance is cast over the world it is almost certain to be the case that somewhere it will be found that the thing which is so considered here has been tried as an experiment or in conviction that it would be helpful to the people and has been worked successfully. Here we hesitate over woman suffrage and call it a problem, but there are a number of places where it is regarded as a matter of course and any one who called it a problem would be laughed at. Here we balk at compulsory arbitration and consider it revolutionary in character, but there is more than one country where it is in common practice and has passed fully beyond the status of a problem and become an accepted fact.

The same is true of many other things which seem to us great experiments which it would be unreasonable or dangerous to try, but somewhere practically every one of these features of government has been adopted and is regarded as a settled institution. We are conservative in this country. We are skeptical and before we undertake some new scheme must be convinced that it will work well. We seem to look at the problem more than at the good results which may accrue from it. We are not bold enough to follow the course of trying an experiment for the sake of the possible good which will come from it to the people. Conservatism is a quality to be commended, but in this world, and especially in this age of new developments, discoveries and revelations, too much conservatism is likely to mean a lack of progress which will leave us in the rear in the march of civilization.

Few indeed of these forms of state government upon which we look as experiments and too radical steps to be taken without long delay and consideration are really problems, for practically all have been adopted somewhere and proved to be for the best interests of the people, which is or ought to be the chief aim of all government. It has thus been learned that it pays to have a contented citizenship, with no strikes and no poor people and with a minimum of poverty, illness and crime. When all new schemes of state government are measured by the standard of the good of the people, it is found that they all hinge upon that condition. If they are in the interests of the people they are worthy of adoption, and if they fail to show that they will benefit the people they are not deserving of acceptation. It is found that those things which are of advantage to the public pay in the end, if not directly, and that from every point of view they are the best for the people and for the government. That has been the experience of those countries which have been more radical than ours and have taken much longer strides toward full government for the people.

There is thus little excuse for excessive conservatism, for there is hardly a plan over which we in this country are hesitating and debating, regarding it as a problem, which has not been tested and proved in some other place. It is not necessary, therefore, to move in the dark in regard to these matters. We do not need to be pioneers in these things. The experiments have been made by others and we can use their experience for our own benefit. Still we hesitate and delay in making use of the knowledge gained by others which ought to show us the way to better things. We are called a progressive nation, but we hardly deserve that appellation in the sense of being pioneers, but rather. In the fact that when we do adopt a course we follow it with an enthusiasm and push it with a vigor lacking in some other nations. We are good followers in the matter of state government, but are content to let others blaze the way for us, and it would be better if we did a little more of that work ourselves.

THE ILLINOIS SENATORSHIP SCANDAL.

The proper thing to do in the case of William Lorimer, who occupies a seat in the Senate from Illinois, will be to declare the seat vacant and give the legislature of that state an opportunity to see whether it can elect a man honestly. This is quite likely to be the result.

The state is making slow progress in its efforts to convict and punish the men responsible for the alleged bribery. There are two reasons for this. The machinery of the criminal courts works heavily and bribery is notoriously a difficult thing to prove, and there are local influences—the influences which all the men inculpated can manage directly and indirectly to exert, for the conviction of one man would lead to that of another, and those not on trial are as much interested in defeating justice as those who are at the bar.

Lorimer's right to a seat will be investigated by the Senate committee on privileges and elections and such an investigation is apt to be thorough. It will be entirely independent of local influences, for it will be conducted by men who do not reside in Illinois and have no friends or enemies in that state to consider. The investigation will not be a criminal proceeding, and therefore the committee will not be restricted by rules of evidence in any such degree as are the criminal courts.

The first trial of Lee O'Neil Browne, charged with bribery in the case failed because one juror, said to have been a political worker of Lorimer's, held out for acquittal. Browne's lawyers tried to have the case dismissed after that, but the court insisted on another trial. A large number of venire men summoned for the jury for the second trial have been dismissed by the court, because it was shown that most of them had been approached by some agent of the defense. If another jury can be secured and the trial proceed, it may be found that another tool of Lorimer is on the jury. Whatever the Illinois courts do or fail in doing, we shall probably secure the truth from the committee on privileges and elections, and if the committee should find that there was bribery there is little doubt that the election would be set aside.

Now that the new Assembly districts are fixed by law, there should be immediate action to change the ward lines in Newport to correspond with the new divisions. The Representative Council at its meeting next week will undoubtedly take the initiative in the matter, that the Board of Aldermen may make the changes in time for the canvass meetings preparatory to the elections in November and December.

Ex-President Roosevelt gave some sound common sense advice in his address to the National Negro Business League in New York. Among other things he told the delegates that "the only way of permanently helping any man is to help him help himself." This applies to all races, the white as well as the black, and is a good rule to follow in all things.

The New York Democrats are likely to name Mayor Gaynor for governor, and he may be forced to accept the nomination, although he has repeatedly said he expected to fill out his full term as mayor. His work there is only begun; there is much more to be done to make New York a well managed city.

One must be unusually wide-awake and clear-headed to keep track of the many rumors regarding the relations between President Taft and ex-President Roosevelt, or to work out a satisfactory conclusion concerning the two. Many if not most of the reports are undoubtedly groundless.

The battleships will leave Monday, and with a better opinion of Newport than ever before. The officers and sailors have undoubtedly enjoyed themselves here, while Newport has unquestionably enjoyed having them here and the opportunity for the citizens to entertain them.

Detroit is a growing city. The recent census gives it a population of 465,766, an increase of 63 per cent in ten years, while since the national census of 1890 the number has increased more than 100 per cent.

The General Assembly was in session only three days, but accomplished a considerable amount of legislation. The extra session has shown that the legislature can act quickly, if it will.

Now for Providence and the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Convention! The big city at the head of the river is planning big things for visitors week after next.

The colleges are sending out calls for the football players to begin practice. Autumn will soon be here.

Look out for the illumination of the battleships tonight. It will be worth seeing.

HARD ON OXFORD.

Dr. A. M. Worthington of Harvard has announced wittily to the world that the "kiss germ" is a myth. Apropos of this happy announcement Dr. Worthington said at a dinner in Boston:

"So they who frown on the kiss are too exclusive. They are, in fact, as bad as old Dr. Thompson of Cambridge University.

Dr. Thompson thought Cambridge was the finest university in the world. Her rival, Oxford, he despised and abominated. Once, at a dinner, a lady said to the exclusive old man:

"I understand, sir, that the attendance at Oxford has fallen off tremendously. How do you account for it sir?"

"'It must be due,' said Dr. Thompson gruffly, 'to the increase of emigration among the lower classes.'"

MAKING MOVING PICTURES SPEAK.

[Popular Mechanics.]

Before it is possible to make the pictures speak, the most careful rehearsing has to be gone through. This is done by running the pictures slowly, with full explanations. Words, sentences, disjointed exclamations, imitations and mechanical noises are interspersed, and not until every person knows his part and can read the pictures from behind the screen is the film shown in public. For his cue, the moving picture actor must glue his eye to the rapidly-knowing views on the screen, alert to manipulate the proper sound-producing device, or speak at exactly the right moment. Should he be a moment too soon or too late, the realistic effect would be spoiled.

Among the sound-producing devices used are motorcycles, an organ, wind and thunder machines, bells, whistles, drums, musical tubes and irons, etc.

AROUND RHODE ISLAND.

Providence to Have Big Parade and Banquet Columbus Day.

Oyster Beds in Upper Bay to be Inspected—The Harbor Improvement Loan.

Columbus day in Providence will be celebrated with a big parade in the morning, in which Knights of Columbus from various councils in the state and more than 40 Italian and other societies will participate, and with a banquet in the evening. For some time plans for celebrating the new national holiday, which falls on October 12, have been under discussion by the committee, and at one time it was thought the local Knights might go to Newport to celebrate with their brothers. At a meeting of the general committee Friday evening, at which all the subcommittees were present, it was decided to hold a big parade in Providence and to invite a large number of other state societies to participate. The arrangements include the parade in the morning, a program of sporting events in the afternoon, with band concerts in the Federal Hill and North End districts under the auspices of the United Italian Societies, and a banquet in the evening in which the Knights of Columbus, the Italian societies and other societies will take part. Representative George F. O'Shaunessy was chosen as toastmaster for the banquet, but the place at which the dinner will be held has not yet been decided. Formerly the Knights of Columbus have observed the day on the Sunday next preceding the anniversary, and this year's celebration will be the first to be held on a week day.

The matter of condemning the oyster beds above a line from Conimicut point to Nyatt point and a line from Rumstick point to the Warren-Bristol town line was considered by the Shell Fish Commission Friday and was continued to September 2, in order that a second test of the beds might be made before that drastic action was definitely ordered. The board states that it does not desire to cause any inconvenience by condemning the beds, and for that reason the United States government will be asked to set a standard of purification of oysters. The state will accept the standard the federal authorities adopt. Professor Frederick P. Gorham of Brown University, the board's expert in pollution matters, will make an exhaustive examination of the beds covered by the proposed condemnation plan, and upon his report the proceedings will be taken. Professor Gorham will take the samples and inspect the beds in person. The board voted authority to the secretary, Drayton A. Round, to issue certificates of sanitation as provided in the amendment to the laws adopted at the January session, upon the recommendation of Professor Gorham. Without such certificates, according to the law, any person taking oysters for sale from an uncertified bed becomes liable to the state laws.

Mayor Fletcher of Providence has received from the office of the Secretary of War an official communication which defines the position of the government regarding the appropriation for the Providence harbor improvements. The communication, which is signed by John C. Scofield, assistant and chief clerk for the Secretary of War in his absence, leaves no doubt that the government would have refused to apply the $469,000 in the river and harbor bill for the benefit of Providence harbor had not the General Assembly amended the harbor loan bill to conform to the requirements of the War Department. Mayor Fletcher believes the action of the General Assembly in amending the bill to make it possible to appropriate $289,000 of the bond issue to the direct improvement of Providence harbor will prove satisfactory to the War Department and remove all obstacles which might stand in the way and thus retard the beginning of improvements.

An exploding oil stove totally destroyed a cottage at Oakland Beach Friday, the fire startling six young women next door into a state of panic. The exploding stove sent fire all over the lower rooms of the cottage, owned by John Shaw of Thornton and occupied by the family of Charles Greenhalge of Lonsdale and a family named MacKenzie of Providence. When the explosion took place a girl living in the house rushed out with a razor, which was the only article saved. Cash amounting to $5 and all the furniture were destroyed. In the next cottage, about 30 feet away and in the direct path of the flames which were carried along by the wind, lived the families of Peter Foley and David Kiley. In the house were May and Ella Kiley, Annie Theresa Foley and Mary Isabel O'Connor. They rushed out as if their house was on fire. There is no apparatus at Oakland Beach. When neighbors saw that the Greenhalge cottage was doomed they formed a bucket brigade extending to the beach and turned their whole attention to the endeavor to save the Foley-Kiley cottage. In this they were successful, although it seemed several times as if the flames would conquer the firefighters. While the bucket brigade attended to the outside of the house, other men turned their attention to saving the furniture within and practically everything was placed beyond the reach of the fire. The fire bucket brigade composed about 50 men, under the leadership of John F. Walsh. The cottage which was destroyed was burned to the ground. Whether or not it is insured is not known. The Greenhalge family had lived there since the first of the summer.

Peter Tyczkowski, who holds a liquor license in Providence, Friday had an opportunity of choosing whether he would close his saloon for one month or suffer the loss of his license. He chose the lesser of two evils and went home to close up his place of business for 30 days. The board of police commissioners held a hearing on charges preferred against Tyczkowski by Captain Mowry of the Sixth precinct. The saloon keeper was charged with keeping a noisy place, with failing to observe the rules laid down by the board and with allowing his wife to tend bar. At the conclusion of the hearing Tyczkowski was found guilty as charged and the commissioners gave him his choice of closing his saloon for one month or losing his license. In explaining the sentence, Chairman William L. Luther said the only penalty provided by law in the case of saloon keepers who violate the conditions of their license is revocation of the latter. The commissioners, however, do not like to use their power except when compelled to do so by circumstances. Instead of revoking a man's license, they prefer to suspend it for a period of time, but this cannot be done except by the holder's consent. The commissioners, however, have found that saloon keepers are always willing to meet the suggestion of the board and accept the lesser penalty.

Announcement is made by Bishop Harkins of the creation of a new Catholic parish in Pawtucket and the appointment of Rev. Hormilas V. Sylvestre as its pastor. It has been named St. Cecelia, and its territory will include parts of the present St. Joseph's and Notre Dame parishes. Its purpose is to look after the spiritual needs of the French-speaking people in that section of the city and the church will be located on Central avenue, on the land recently purchased at the corner of Newport avenue.

The will of Lydia A. Williams, widow of Amos C. Williams of Cranston, contains several bequests, including one of $2,000 to the Elmwood Free Baptist Church of Providence, of which she was a member. Rev. Anson B. Howard, pastor of the church, receives $2,000, by the terms of the will, while a cottage, in Douglas, Mass., is bequeathed to the Douglas Camp Meeting Association. The association also receives a quantity of its own stock, which was held by Mrs. Williams. The Rhode Island Hospital Trust Company is named as executor of the will.

Dr. Charles V. Chapin, city registrar of Providence, and superintendent of health, will be one of the principal speakers at the annual meeting of the American Public Health Association, to be held in Milwaukee, Wis., September 5 to 9 inclusive. Prominent health officers and physicians from all over the country will be in attendance. Dr. Chapin will read a paper on "The Value of Terminal Disinfection in Diphtheria and Scarlet Fever," and will also present the report of the association's committee on "Municipal Vital Statistics."

ONLY EIGHT REMAIN.

Three Californians Among Those Left in Sixth Round.

Good Tennis in Most of Today's Matches, Two of Which Went to Five Sets.

In the national lawn tennis tournament at the Casino this morning the fifth round in singles was completed, leaving eight of the 181 players who entered. The fifth round in singles was completed, neither for the all-comer's honors and the privilege of challenging William A. Larned for the national championship. These eight players are C. E. Cutting, F. H. Whitney, M. E. McLoughlin, Beals C. Wright, Deane Mathey, C. R. Gardner, T. C. Bundy and W. B. Cragin, Jr. Of these three—McLoughlin, Gardner and Bundy—are from California, although Gardner has been the Harvard 'Varsity champion for two years.

Two matches were left unfinished from Friday when the heavy rain of that afternoon stopped play. The score was resumed where it was left off and both were quickly decided. In the McLoughlin-Jones match the former had won two sets and the latter had the third, 3 games to 1. Jones was unable to score but one game today, while McLoughlin easily ran out the five games which gave him the set, 6-4, and the match. In the other unfinished match Colston had wone one set and Gardner had two to his credit. The fourth was closely contested, Gardner winning, 6-4, and taking the match.

Six other games in the round were played entire today, three of them going to five sets, one to four and three being decided stright. B. C. Wright easily disposed of Malcolm G. Chace, allowing him only six games. Mathey beat Inman in straight sets, allowing seven games to his opponent. Bundy had a little more difficult work in beating Thomas, but left in straight sets. Craig Biddle won in straight sets. Craig Biddle proved a hard nut for W. B. Cragin to crack, the latter winning one set. The Cutting-Stillman five-set match was anybody's until the final set, each winning alternately for four sets and Cutting pulling out the fifth at 6-2. There were 55 games in this match. The Whitney-Harris match also went to five sets, Whitney winning after 41 games had been played. The summary of the morning play was as follows:

Fifth Round.

C. E. Cutting defeated A. Stillman, 2-6, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2.

F. H. Whitney defeated F. H. Harris, 6-1, 1-6, 2-6, 6-1, 6-3.

M. E. McLoughlin defeated J. D. E. Jones, 7-5, 6-4, 6-4.

Beals C. Wright defeated M. G. Chace, 6-1, 6-2, 6-3.

Deane Mathey defeated F. C. Inman, 6-4, 6-2, 6-2.

F. C. Colston defeated C. R. Gardner, 5-6, 6-2, 6-3, 6-4.

T. C. Bundy defeated G. T. Thomas, Jr., 6-3, 6-3, 6-4.

W. B. Cragin defeated C. Biddle 1-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4.

The matches Monday morning will be Cutting vs. Whitney, McLoughlin vs. Wright, Mathey vs. Colston, and Bundy vs. Cargin, with the McLoughlin-Wright the feature match on the grand stand court.

The consolation tournament has been brought down to the semi-finals, one match in that round having already been played. In this Wallace F. Johnson beat Stanley Henshaw, 6-4, 6-1. The other semi-final is between N. M. Vose and S. H. Voshell. This will be played this afternoon and the winner will meet Johnson in the finals before night.

Mrs. H. Casimir De Rham today wore a white linen gown and an Eton hat with ecru lace. Mrs. Adolph Rosenburg had white embroidered muil with a blue sash and scarf and a white hat with pink roses and mauve velvet. Miss Robert Willard's old blue gown dotted in white was worn with a pink hat with pink rosebuds and pink tulle. Mrs. J. Norman de R. Whitehouse was wearing white chiffon with an Alice blue chiffon sash and a champagne-colored hat, with a scarf of the same color. Mrs. Henry C. Phipps wore white chiffon cloth with bands of Irish lace and a pink hat with pink roses.

Mrs. E. H. G. Slater's coat suit of pink linen was worn with a pink hat with pink roses and lace. Mrs. Charles de Loosey Oelrichs wore a gown of eyelet linen and a large black hat with black plumes and a black chiffon veil. Mrs. Henry Barton Jacobs was wearing tobacco-colored chiffon with trimmings of Duchess lace and black velvet, and a black hat with white aigrettes. ODD FELLOWS ON THE FLEET ENTERTAINED.

The entertainment by Rhode Island and Excelsior Lodges to the Odd Fellows on the fleet attracted to Odd Fellows' hall during Friday afternoon and evening a large number of members of the order from all over the country. More than 200 registered and many who came in were not asked to register in the rush. During the afternoon there were light refreshments, cigars, cigarettes and a committee to meet the visitors. In the evening there was a good turnout of the local members, to exchange greetings with the visitors. Refreshments were served in th dining room and an entertainment was given by two impersonators and the Mandolin Club in the hall. It was a sort of informal reception and good time to bring members of the order together, and seems to have succeeded admirably.

—Ordinarily this, being Saturday night, would see the largest crowd of the week out. It is also illumination of the fleet night and it is fair to suppose that a considerable portion of the population will be looking at the illumination, either from land or from boats.

—The Fort Adams Band began its Saturday afternoon concert on the Mall at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Even if the band was unable to give the concert Friday evening, it was on hand today. So were a large number of listeners.

—The sun finally came out Friday afternoon, and the wind shifted to the northeast, and is still there. It was much cooler this morning, the temperature being down to 62. —Friday F. W. Layton landed 13 barrels of butterfish, and at ruling prices that is some fishing. Today Captain John Brownell had 65 barrels of butterfish, the best catch since the close of the scup season. Nor was that all. The new fishing sloop Thomas B. Congdon arrived with 1,900 mackerel and the Aquidneck Fishing Company now realizes that it really is a fishing company.

—A window in the Boston Branch grocery was broken Friday night. It was already broken, but not into fragments which strew the sidewalk, but about 10 o'clock another bump set the pieces to falling and after they had fallen and the crowd had gathered more from above fell. A window was broken in the south side of The News building Thursday afternoon. It was done in broad daylight, and some one evidently threw a "rock."

—The funeral of Edward O'Hara took place from his late residence on Fir street this morning at 8 o'clock, and later to St. Mary's Church, where, in the presence of a large congregation, Rev. W. B. DIDN'T MIND THE RAIN.

grounds of the litter and offal, of which there are quantities.

Even the repairing of fences was begun this morning, and in this work better material has been put in than was found when the committee took charge of the grounds.

Selling Out at Auction.

Auctioneer O'Neill began the work of disposing of the clambake equipment shortly after 10:30 o'clock this morning. There were present builders, caterers, farmers and citizens in general, some from curiosity but most with the idea that there was something they would like to have if they could buy it right. There were automobiles and vehicles of every description, which had brought the 200 or 300 people or had been brought to the grounds to take away prospective purchases.

Some builders had made purchases of tables at private sale and these were engaged during the auction in taking down the lumber. Other gangs were employed in clearing up the bake alley, there being quantities of stone, seaweed and the like to take away.

The auctioneering was begun with the dishes, plates costing 6 cents selling for 3¼. Approximately half cost was realized on the thousands of dishes and cooking utensils, there being quantities of everything so large that even dealers took only fractional parts. Some things of course were sold at low figures and again things brought large prices. For instance, it it said that some of the lumber realized more than the committee paid for it. There was approximately 30,000 feet of lumber sold, and of course the purchasers secured it at less than the retail prices, but since the committee was able to purchase a job lot at a special figure the fund for the entertainment receives the benefit. The tables were sold for $8.25 each, as they stood in the lot, there being about 500 feet of sliding in them and the suppolting framework being thrown in. The serving tables, 200 feet in length, sold for $14.75 each.

The hundreds of yards of cloth used for table coverings was sold after some lively bidding, and even the enamel cloth brought a better figure than had been expected. All food stuffs which were not returnable were sold, while the 10 or 11 cords of wood which remained went for $15, which was of course less than cost when transportation is considered.

Notes.

The big clambake came to an end at 12:30 o'clock by the completion of the auction, at which time the help, except a few who will be retained for the remainder of the day, were paid off. There is of course cleaning up to be done and the committee will have a meeting to close up the accounts when the finance committee is ready with its report.

The members of the committee are in high feather over their accomplishment, for almost every effort produces knockers, and if there are any on this they have yet to be heard. Somehow citizens and guests appear to have been pleased, and that seems to be quite sufficient. It has been remarkable that even heavy showers failed to mar the pleasure, and when the battleship fleet sails from Newport Monday morning the men will carry away with them words of praise which will be scattered broadcast throughout the world.

This afternoon brought ashore large liberty parties and Sunday more will come, but that will be all.

One of the side lights on the affair was the arrival of a poor old colored "mammy" at the grounds Friday afternoon. She had a pan of biscuits, which she said she had baked for the committee. They were gratefully received and she went away happy, for she carried a watermelon. When it was given to her she nearly wept, and said that was one thing she did not expect to taste this summer.

The committee had a wagon load more corn than was required, as a result of donations, and it being Saturday it was not considered possible to dispose of it, so the dishwashers, who have been a faithful set of women during the week, were told they might take as much as they could carry away. They carried off some pretty large loads.

During the week many summer residents have driven or walked through the grounds to see the great sight, and this morning there were also several such parties, who came around and seemed to find enjoyment in the final scene.

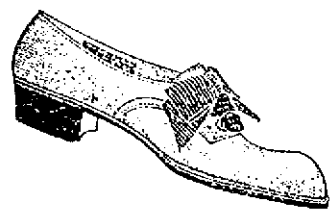

THE COMING KINGSTON FAIR.

Fair time is coming again, and from every indication this year's show at West Kingston will surpass any previously held in this state. The management has contrived to make this an occurrence of interest and importance to great numbers of people, not only in the South county but throughout the state. The South county fair has all the well known features, which New Englanders have learned to expect. The progress and development of Rhode Island agricultural and live stock interests, as recorded in this annual exhibition, is such to interest every lover of the state.

MOTOR BOATS TO BE INSPECTED.

The Department of Commerce and Labor has instructed the customs officials to proceed immediately to inspect all motor vessels and enforce the regulations governing them. Collector Burlingame has therefore directed his inspectors to give special attention to such vessels, particularly at this time to those engaged in carrying passengers. A boat is provided for this purpose and all motor boats in this district will be visited and their equipment inspected.

SALARIES OF MINISTERS.

Temporal Needs and Rights of Those Who Preach the Gospel Should be Provided For.

[Christian Work.]

There are many churches in which ministers are working for salaries far below those which such churches ought to pay. The indifference of many laymen to the temporal needs and rights of their spiritual teachers is one of the most unaccountable and lamentable of all the manifestations of selfishness to be found inside the Christian church. There are many churches, moreover, which, because of the meagre financial resources of their members, cannot afford to pay a living wage. The amount which the church can raise must be supplemented by grants from a missionary society, by donations from outside friends, or by proceeds of church entertainments and fairs. One is not aware of the extent of the poverty among the churches of our country until he studies the statistics compiled by the various denominations. So meagre are the salaries in many cases that, no matter how economical the minister and his wife, nothing can be saved for sickness or old age, and hence the preacher is obliged to live in constant terror of becoming some day a public charge, and is driven to continue his work in the ministry long after the time has arrived at which he ought to have been able to retire.

There are many men in American pulpits today who ought to have been released from service years ago, and who would have been glad to lay down their burden of pulpit responsibility, had it been possible for them to do so. In this way not only do ministers suffer, but congregations also, and the whole Church of God. Many denominations, to be sure, have relief funds from which the most needy can receive aid, but the amount of the grant is nearly always pitiably small, and, moreover, to receive it makes one feel like a beggar.

The consequences are disastrous all around. Many men are driven away from the ministry altogether by their unwillingness to subject themselves to a constant struggle with poverty and a possible unprovided-for old age. Of those who enter the ministerial ranks, not a few fail to accomplish, because of inadequate financial support, what they otherwise would have achieved, and at the end of the day suffer humiliations and tortures which only sensitive and refined hearts can know. Mr. Carnegie, by his great gift, has lifted the entire teaching profession to a new level. Larger number of better men will hereafter go into it. They will work with freer mind and increased efficiency, and at an age when they still have the prospect of several years in which to follow the pursuits of their own personal choosing they can hand over to younger hands professional responsibilities and cares, knowing that the wants of the last years will be provided for without becoming suppliants for the doles of charity. Some such provision must be made some day for those who preach the gospel. The surprising thing is that, with all our Christian men and women of enormous wealth, it has not been made long ago.

NEW YORK LETTER.

First Municipality to Deal With Aerial Navigation.

Women Beg "Big Bill" Edwards for Souvenirs—Subway Strap Hangers—A Large Belt.

[Correspondence of the News.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The air age, from a commercial and practical standpoint has now arrived so far as this city is concerned, and as a result of recent developments New York now lays claim to being the first municipality to make the arrival of aerial navigation a business factor to be seriously considered in its various activities. Already air space has become valuable and the capital invested in flying as a commercial proposition now runs into the millions. The most striking illustration of the manner in which this city has put upon a commercial basis, an idea which up to now has been considered an experiment confined to sporting and exhibition events, is found in the development here of a new field of advertising which for want of a better name must be called aerial advertising. More than $1,000,000 annually, it is reported, is now being spent in signs and displays on the roofs of tall buildings which cannot be seen from a height of less than 275 feet above the ground. Of course some of these signs are visible from the top floors of the very tallest skyscrapers, but a larger number of them can only be seen distinctly enough to be understood from an airship. Already a number of flights have been made across the city and it is believed that this strange form of advertising is one of the surest indications of the arrival of the commercial air age. Indeed it is whispered that a number of far-sighted men have been quietly securing the exclusive right to use the roofs of the city's more prominent buildings for advertising purposes, in the belief that within a few years they will bring a large financial return. Likewise tracts of undeveloped land in the outskirts of the city, which a year ago could have been bought for a song, are now being held at a high prices as aeroplane manufacturing sites which also afford a testing field. Altogether the commercial air age has arrived here in a manner unsuspected even a score of months ago.

No sooner had the public tension over the condition of Mayor Gaynor been lessened by the favorable reports of his condition from the attendant physicians than all sorts of details, some of them even humorous, began to crop up in connection with his attempted assassination. Naturally most of them have to do with "Big Bill" Edwards, formerly a famous football player and now in charge of the work of keeping the streets of the city clean. Aside from the fact that "Big Bill" is one of the most picturesque figures in the city's administration, this is naturally to be expected since he it was who captured and subdued the mayor's assailant, receiving in the struggle two bullet holes in his coat sleeve and a slight flesh wound in his arm. Of late a young woman has persistently haunted Edwards's office demanding a personal interview with the big commissioner. As he has been absent most of the time her quest has proven fruitless and it was only yesterday that his secretary learned the motive of her visits. What she was after was a piece of the coat sleeve through which the bullet passed. She did not get it, but no sooner had her purpose become public than the women who swarmed to the office with similar requests could not have been satisfied even if the coat, big as it is, had been cut into pin head sized pieces. Other out-of-town enthusiasts have been sending in all sorts of congratulatory messages collect, and altogether Mr. Edwards has found the limelight into which he has been thrown a good deal more difficult to face than the revolver of the would-be assassin.

While it seems probable that the strap hanger in the subway cars will be just as common 20 years from now as he is at present, his burden is shortly to be lightened in a manner which marks a great advance in local transportation methods, or for that mater throughout the country. Beginning just as soon as the equipment can be put in place, subway travelers will at least be fanned and thus relieved of some of the terrors of the ride. Work is now being rushed to instal in every subway car four large electric fans. These will be suspended from the ceilings of the cars, seven feet above the floor, so that there will be no chance of any piece of feminine headgear becoming mixed up with the revolving blades. Of course the fans cannot lower the temperature, but by increasing evaporation they will, it is expected, add greatly to the comfort of passengers. Even in winter the subway is often unpleasantly warm due to the great number of heat units generated by the trains, while in summer the temperature often rises above 100 degrees. The installation of the fans, however, at a cost of over $100,000 will, it is believed, not only do much to relieve this condition, but also mark the first trial of such an innovation.

During this broiling weather the Sunday crowds at Coney Island aggregate 500,000 persons, or enough to populate one of the largest cities in the Union. The postoffice authorities reported that one Sunday recently over 300,000 picture postals were mailed from the island, a fact indicating that the greater part of the crowd came from places other than the metropolis. It is estimated that the number of visitors exceeded the attendance at the Columbian Exposition at Chicago on Chicago day in 1893, when visitors from all over the world crowded into the exposition grounds. Every amusement resort and every fakir at the island was overwhelmed with patronage, and even the frankfurter men, whose business has not been up to the mark this year, ran out of supplies in the evening. A canvass of the breweries that furnish Coney Island's supply showed that an average of one barrel of beer a minute was being consumed. Yet there was practically no disorder in the great crowd. The police found it necessary to gather in only 12 persons on intoxication charges.

What is said to be the largest belt ever manufactured for everyday use has just been completed here. It is not, however, an article of wearing apparel to girdle the waist of a giant, but instead is designed for commercial purposes. The hides of no less than 275 steers were required to construct this remarkable belt, which, made only of the finest leather, weighs 3,500 pounds. It is of three thicknesses, is eight feet wide and 120 feet long. Its duty will be to transmit 2,000 horse-power in a plant in a Western city.

Longacre.

Last year 103,798 persons left the United States for Northwestern Canada. Nearly all of them were farmers and their families. Uncle Sam can spare to his neighbor 10 per cent of the year's immigration, but if he could choose the material to be exported he would have kept most of this at home and sent other classes. Fortunately for us, the tide is now turning, and many emigrants are coming home again.—[The Congregationalist.

A FACT PROVEN.

Should Convince Even the Most Skeptical of Its Truth.

If there is the slightest doubt in the minds of any that Dandruff germs do not exist, their belief is compelled by the fact that a rabbit innoculated with the germs became bald in six weeks' time.

It must be apparent to any person therefore that the only prevention of baldness is the destruction of the germ—which act is successfully accomplished in one hundred per cent. of cases by the application of Newbro's Herpicide.

Dandruff is caused by the same germ which causes baldness and can be prevented with the same remedy- Newbro's Herpicide.

REFUSED PERMIT FOR A PARADE.

New Bedford Strike Conditions More Peaceful.

Crucial Test of Strength of Labor Men to be Seen Soon.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 20.—Today is one of restful quiet for the striking hod carriers, building laborers, and the police. A delegation of the strikers' officials were refused a permit for a parade, by Chief of Police Henry W. Mason, this morning, and the same men received a rebuff from Mayor Ashley, when they visited his office for the purpose of securing the much desired permit. They were insistent, declaring that they wanted to parade for the purpose of showing the contractors and the public their strength. The mayor says that no such demonstration will be permitted, and as a result, it is not thought that there will be further trouble before Monday when, it is said, some of the contractors will try to resume with deserters from the union ranks and with strikt breakers, imported from Boston and other cities. This attempt is expected to bring about the crucial test of strength between the police and the strikers.

BIPLANE DASHES DOWN TO GROUND.

Lieutenant Vivaldi of Italian Army Killed in Fall.

Various Reasons Advanced As to Cause of Accident.

ROME, Aug. 20.—Lieutenant Vivaldi, of the Italian army, was killed early today, by a fall from his aeroplane. He was returning from the military aviation field at Centocelle to Civitavecchia, on the Tyrrhenian sea, 38 miles from Rome, when the machine dashed to the earth, killing its pilot. Lieutenant Vivaldi had just returned from Chalons-Sur-Marne, France, where he had taken up aviation and learned to fly. He used a Farman biplane. He started from Centocelle, this morning, accompanied by Lieutenant Savoia in another aeroplane, but the latter was unable to keep pace with him and returned to Rome before reaching Civitavecchia.

At the time of the accident the aeroplane was maintaining a height of 1,000 feet and the body of Vivaldi was crushed to an unrecognizable mass, by the fall. Various reasons are advanced as to the cause of the accident, some attributing it to sunstroke and others to an accident to the motor, or a loss of stability in a sudden gust of wind.

DANGER PERIOD PASSED.

Physicians Say Gaynor Will be Completely Recovered Soon.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Mayor Gaynor's condition was excellent today, his physicians say, and the period of danger has now passed. The doctors agree that he will be completely recovered within a short time and he will go to the Adirondacks to complete his recovery. Mayor Gaynor, though, has indicated that he thought he ought to return to his home in St. James, Long Island, after leaving the hospital. The physicians have decided not to operate to remove the bullet, as they think that Mayor Gaynor will suffer no inconvenience from it.

The following official bulletin was issued this morning on Mayor Gaynor's condition:

"The mayor slept well and ate a hearty breakfast this morning. All symptoms continue favorable, and he is practically out of danger.

CEREMONY OF QUIET NATURE.

Florence Nightingale Buried Beside Her Parents at East Wellow.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—Florence Nightingale, the famous nurse of the Crimean war, who died August 13, at her London home, was buried this afternoon beside the bodies of her father and mother in the churchyard of the little Hampshire village of East Wellow. In accordance with her wishes for a simple, private funeral, the ceremony was of the quietest nature, the only feature reminding of her great service to the army being the squad of the Grenadier Guards, who acted as bearers.

Public tribute to the "Angel of the Crimea" was paid at a memorial service at noon at St. Paul's Cathedral here, at which King George, Queen Mary, the Queen Mother Alexandra, the war office and admiralty and the greater part of the British public bodies and colonies were represented. United States Ambassador Whitelaw Reid and Mrs. Reid were present. Among the flowers sent for the funeral were a number of wreaths contributed by American nursing associations.

THE THAYER—WARREN ENGAGEMENT.

Mrs. Samuel Dennis Warren of Boston and Dedham announces the engagement of her second daughter, Miss Katherine Warren, to Mr. John Eliot Thayer, Jr., of Boston and Lancaster.

Miss Warren is a member of the Vincent Club, as are two of her fiance's sisters, Misses Evelyn and Nora Thayer. Her mother is a daughter of the late Thomas F. Bayard, at one time ambassador to Great Britain. She has two sisters, Mrs. Joseph G. Bradley and Miss Sylvia Warren, and several brothers, among them Mr. Samuel D. Warren, who married Miss Helen Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Washington B. Thomas.

Mr. Thayer, who is at Harvard, is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Eliot Thayer. His father is the twin brother of Mr. Bayard Thayer and his mother, who was Miss Evelyn Forbes, is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Forbes, of Clinton. One of his cousins is Countess Moltke, who was Miss Cornelia Thayer; another Miss Sarah Thayer, daughter of Mr. Nathaniel Thayer, and another Mr. Eugene, V. R. Thayer, Jr.

SMALL FIRE IN A BARN.

Box 23 was rung a few minutes before 1 o'clock this morning for a slight fire in the barn of C. A. Easterbrooks on Edward street. There were many about and the fire was discovered early, and some one ran out the hose used for washing the floor and the fire was extinguished. The horse and wagons were hauled out, but it was found when the firemen arrived that the first on hand had done a good job.

The barn was entered by forcing a rear door, perhaps by some one who was looking for a place to sleep. There was a quantity of burlap barrel covers where the fire was, some 8,000 or 9,000 of them, and they were burned; so was some old seine, but the wall was scarcely blackened by smoke.

There was also another fire in a barn not far from this, which was extinguished by the neighbors without an alarm.

NAVAL CONSTRUCTOR ROCK COMMENDED.

Acting Secretary Winthrop of the Navy Department has sent to G. H. Rock, naval constructor, on duty at the Boston navy yard, a letter of commendation for excellent work in recovering the Castine, which was rammed by submarine Bonita a few weeks ago off the Massachusetts coast. The letter was based on a report from the commandant of the Boston navy yard.

POLO DATES POSTPONED.

The opening of the season of polo at the Westchester Club grounds, slated to begin next Monday, will be postponed to a later date. This was to be expected, for the Narragansett Pier season is always running over into the dates set for Newport, and the year 1910 is no exception. However, Mr. Hazard is trying to arrange as good a program of matches as is possible for the Newport season, which will begin in a short time. The entries for the season have not yet been announced.

Golf and Country Club Well Pleased With Its Fair—Dr. Tetlow Takes Bonnerman Cup.

[Regular correspondence to the News.]

The Jamestown Golf and Country Club had a great time at its country fair Thursday afternoon. The pleasant grounds were well filed by summer visitors, there were all sorts of booths, such as one expects to see at fairs, and there was more than a taste of rusticity about the decorations. There were the usual fakes, some of the strongest ones being clever, and about every one fell for the rankest; the ones which had hayseed falling from them caught the most money. Then there was a pleasing vaudeville performance, all burlesque but exceedingly well done. Every one, including the workers, had a good time; in fact, any one who read that card sign announcing the fair could tell that there was to be something to make one forget his troubles.

At the Golf and Country Club the third round in the play for the Mallincrodt cup resulted as follows:

Barry beat Eaton, 1 up.
Hill beat Bryant, 2 up, 1 to play.
Lochman beat Moore, 2 up, 1 to play.
Harmon beat Chew, 4 up, 3 to play.

In the semi-finals Barry beat Hill, 2 up.

For the Bennerman cup, played for each Wednesday through the season, Dr. L. Tetlow won for the fifth consecutive week. As there are but three more weeks of play he wins the cup, 5 up and 3 to play, and as the game is over the cup was handed to him.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Duncan and family, Dr. and Mrs. Billings and sons, Mrs. William Bass and Miss Bass, of Bay Ridge, N. Y., are at Hodgerow cottage on Greene lane.

Flagship Connecticut has moved her position, from opposite Potter's point, to an anchorage off the North Dumpling island. This brings her almost opposite Admiral Schroeder's summer cottage on Walcott avenue.

Miss Mary Stewart, of New York, is guest of Captain and Mrs. A. L. Champlin on Howland avenue.

The ferries were again taxed to their full capacity to accommodate the travel to tennis in Newport this morning. The tennis crowds, with the excursionists, who take the trip on the ferries to see the war vessels, put the boats far off the schedule time.

The fair given by the members of St. Mary's church was far more successful than could be anticipated and many more additional improvements will be made to the parish from the proceeds. The Jersey cow donated by Mr. Perce was awarded to Dr. Allen of Philadelphia. More than $2,000 was realized.

Friday night Mr. Grant Snow was to have given an entertainment at the Gardiner House, but owing to a misunderstanding as to the time of appearance the performance was not given.

QUICK WORK WITH BIG GUNS.

The four 13-inch guns of battleship Kentucky, now undergoing repairs at the Norfolk navy yard, have been removed from that vessel in what officers say is record breaking time, less than 12 hours being consumed in skidding them from the turrets, lifting them and placing them on the wharf. The guns weigh 93 tons each, and to remove such weapons from a battleship is always considered a big job. Free from the turrets, they were slung in chains and lifted to the wharf by a derrick with a lifting capacity of 120 tons. The sleeves of the guns will be sent to the naval gun factory at Washington to be worked on.

11—The bears did not follow up their advantage at the outset and prices consequently worked back to a parity with yesterday's closing. Most of the instances centred in Reading, Union Pacific and United States Steel, which likewise covered the widest fractional range. American Chemical yielded 1¼, and American Car and American Locomotive I. American Cotton Oil gained a point.

Closing—The market closed easy. After prices had returned to what they left off yesterday, interest in the market abated and speculation became dull and routine at best. Fractional gains were restricted to the closest fraction in the most active stocks. Prices were inclined to yield as the session drew to a close. Money on call nominal; no loans. Time loans dull; 60 days 3½ @ 3¾ per cent and 90 days 3½ @ 3¾; six months 4½ @ 4¾. Prime mercantile paper 5½ to 6 per cent. Sterling exchange firm at 484.40 for 60 day bills and at 486.55 for demand. THE FLEET ILLUMINATION.

Good Views of the Spectacle to be Had from Jamestown and the Boulevard Shore.

This afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock Admiral Schroeder will give the citizens in Newport and Jamestown, as well as the officers of the army and navy, a reception on board flagship Connecticut, and the indications are that, big as the ship looks, she will seem small and crowded for the reception promises to be a record-breaker for attendance.

This evening, from 8 to 10, the ships will illuminate. This is the show for everybody in Newport and Jamestown, ashore and afloat, and it should be a pretty picture. Judging by the evenings for the past few days the weather conditions should be ideal. There may be some wind, but that will not bother those ashore, and there may not be enough to bother those afloat.

The ideal place to see the ships illuminated is of course Jamestown, from which it looks as though the whole United States navy were in the bay. There are ships about everywhere. Of course even all that are in the bay are not immediately in front of Jamestown, for some are off the Torpedo Station and others above Rose island. From the Jamestown boats a fine view can be had, going and coming.

Fine views can be had from Newport, also. The first place is Fort Greene, which gives a good view of the fleet. Above, from the Van Zandt Avenue pier north along the new boulevard, the extension of Washington street so much talked of, is a still better place. To reach the shore at the new boulevard one should go via Third street and Van Zandt avenue. From this boulevard one can have a good view of the ships north of Rose island, those back of the Torpedo Station and those off the Jamestown shore. The latter may seem dwarfed up, but this is the place to see them, from Newport.

A long-distance view can be had from the shore at King Park and pier.

FOR THE FLEET OFFICERS.

Berwind Ball at "The Elms" the Social Event of the Season.

Other Entertainments in Large Numbers at Homes of Summer Residents.

The special event of Friday evening, and in fact the social event of the present season, was the ball given by Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Berwind at "The Elms" in honor of Rear Admiral Schroeder, commander-in-chief, and the officers of the Atlantic fleet, now in the outer harbor. There were between 300 and 400 present, including, in addition to the fleet officers, army officers from Fort Adams, naval officers from the Naval Station, Narragansett Bay, a large number of foreigners, members of the diplomatic corps and others, who are spending the summer in Newport or are guests of residents, and practically everybody in society among the cottage residents.

Among the guests were four retired admirals of the navy, Rear Admirals Stephen B. Luce, French E. Chadwick, Charles S. Sperry and William H. Everett, and five active—Rear Admiral Raymond P. Rodgers, off the division commanders, Rear Admirals Schroeder, Comly, Murdock and Vreeland. A large number of the army and naval officers, appeared in full dress uniforms. Mr. and Mrs. Berwind received their guests in the drawing room, Lieutenant John P. Jackson, U. S. N., aide to Rear Admiral Rodgers, and Lieutenant E. T. Constein of the Naval War College, presenting the visiting officers.

The grounds and terraces were extensively decorated. On the upper and lower terraces at the west of the house were placed large rugs and the paths leading from the terraces were carpeted in red and outlined with red fairy cups. The winding paths from the terraces leading down on either side of the lawn to the pergola and central fountain were well lighted with variegated cups, the fountain and lily pond were illuminated with floating flower bulbs, and the two large willow trees arching the fountain effectively brought out with red ball lanterns. The sunken garden and all the flower beds on each side of the lawn were outlined with variegated cups. For the illuminations and exterior decorations Landers & Son used more than 5,000 lights in making an artistic display which added materially to the natural beauty of the extensive grounds.

The floral decorations of the house were executed by the employes of Mr. Berwind and many of the flowers and plants came from his extensive greenhouses. American Beauty roses prevailed and a large number of these were placed in vases about the rooms, the permanent decorations of the house making it unnecessary to add the usual set floral pieces. The table decorations for the supper, which was served in two large rooms during the ball, were also arranged by the employes of Mr. Berwind.

Two orchestras, Mullaly's from the Casino and Conrad's Metropolitan, played a continual program of music during the dancing.

Mrs. Whitney Warren gave a luncheon Friday afternoon at her residence on Narragansett avenue for Secretary of the Navy Meyer, Rear Admiral Schroeder and other officers of the fleet.

In the early evening Commodore and Mrs. Arthur Curtiss James gave a dinner on flagship Aloha in honor of Admiral Schroeder. The guests included Admiral and Mrs. Schroeder, Lieutenant Roger Williams, aide to the admiral; Captain and Mrs. W. F. Fullam, Commander and Mrs. Mark L. Bristol, Commodore and Mrs. Edwin D. Morgan, Commodore and Mrs. Lewis Cass Ledyard, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss, Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Brown, Dr. and Mrs. Walter B. James, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Hoffman, Mrs. E. H. G. Slater and Mr. Eliot Gregory. The floral decorations by Leikens were specially elaborate, the centrepiece being a floral representation of battleship Connecticut, with the broad admiral's pennant at the peak.

Duke Franz Josef of Bavaria, accompanied by Captain von Lusson, his personal aide, and Count George Wedel of the German embassy at Washington, is guest of Mrs. Ogden Goelet at "Ochre Court." Congressman and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth are also guests of Mrs. Goelet, who entertained at luncheon and dinner Friday in their honor. She will give a ball this evening in honor of the duke, entertaining practically the whole summer colony.

Mr. Lispenard Steward gave a dinner Friday evening at "White Lodge" in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spencer Witherbee and Miss Evelyn Witherbee, who are his guests. Dinners were also given by Mrs. Payne Whitney, Mrs. Ellen French Vanderbilt, Mrs. J. F. D. Lanier, Mrs. Edward C. Knight, Mrs. Joseph R. Delworth, Mrs. William E. Carter, Mrs. Clarence W. Dolan and Mrs. John R. Drexel. Dolan, Mrs. John R. Drexel and Rev. and Mrs. George Grenville Merrill.

Luncheons were given earlier in the day by Mrs. Willard Brown, Mrs. Barger Wallach and Mrs. Oliver G. Jennings.

Rear Admiral and Mrs. French E. Chadwick will give a dinner this evening at "Twin Oaks" in honor of their niece, Miss Margaret Chadwick Heed, and afterwards will take their guests to Mrs. Goelet's ball.

BUSY NIGHT FOR POLICE.

Assaults and Scrimmages and Soldiers, Sailors and Civilians Gathered In.

Friday was the "banner" night for the police. There were soldiers and sailors, civilians and about all colors to gather in. There were charges of assaults on officers, there were assaults not on officers, and even Little Compton came in this morning, officially, in the person of the Town Sergeant, with an automobile speeder.

One drunk was fined $5 and costs. Usually he has received $2 and costs, and when the price was raised the man who usually pays refused to meet the advance and at last accounts the $7.50 was still unpaid. All the others were released.

A soldier was fined in all, with costs, $27.20, for assault on an officer and another man. It was paid.

A sailor had to pay damages for taking a flag. He would have escaped if the naval patrol had held him after the police turned him over, but he patrol let him go and he was caught in another scrimmage and this morning was obliged to pay for damaging a flag which he tore down.

A man who was much the worse for a fight and contact with an officer's club paid $5 and costs, and the doctor charged $3 for fixing him up.

Two, for revelling on Long wharf, were held up but later released. In addition, a sailor was brought up from Carmen street, where he had been beaten by two other sailors, who escaped. He was cared for by the patrol.

A woman fell on Beach street and was taken to the hospital by the police. Then there was a fire, so that the officers knew there was something doing. They even took part in the "protection" of the "Silver King's" place, by driving away the gathering of citizens and helping make that part of the street passable.

From Little Compton this morning came Town Sergeant Pierce and John O'Brien, a chauffeur who was caught speeding. The court said $15 and costs and O'Brien's surplus was reduced $23.60.

AT FREEBODY PARK NEXT WEEK.

So great a laughing hit has been made this week at Freebody Park by Billie Burke's "Models of the Jardin De Paris" that Mr. Sheedy has secured another of his productions, said to be funnier still, for next week. It is the musical comedy, "The Foolish Factory," introducing the character comedian, George Hickman; the versatile Six O'Connor Sisters, Ada, Anna, Mary, Katie, Nellie and Vera, and a company of ten. The scene is laid at a sanatorium for incurably rich editors where every nurse is a poetess and all the doctors pinochle fiends. Another attraction will be a trans-Atlantic novelty, Transfield's Comedy Circus, with trained ponies, educated dogs and the saucy unrideable mule, "Wise Pete," whose antics create great merriment.

Other acts on the program are the Two Roses in a musical offering; Elsie Faye, singing and dancing comedienne; Burns and Lawrence, topical vaudeville, known as "the Rathskeller Duo;" the Three Renauds, European aerial acrobats and gymnasts; Lester and Kellett, repartee and conversational comedy couple, and the Four Henrys, English novelty and whirlwind dancers, now making their first appearance in America.

FUNERAL OF R. HAMMETT TILLEY.

The funeral of R. Hammett Tilley, Friday afternoon at his late residence on Hope street, was attended by representatives of the organizations of which he was a member, including the Newport Historical Society, the Rhode Island Society of Colonial Wars and the Sons of the Revolution, and others who had been connected with him in official life. There were also representatives of the Daughters of the American Revolution, with which his daughter is prominently connected. The Protestant Episcopal service was read by Rev. George Vernon Dickey, rector of St. George's Church. The committal was in the Island cemetary this morning, there being no bearers.

THREE SAILORS SENTENCED IN FALL RIVER.

It was not the story of three men in a boat, but of three men off a boat, which gave the Fall River papers their big local article Friday. The three men were from battleship Rhode Island, and had drunk all they needed and had bottles of beer which they did not need, and which they insisted in drinking in a Chinese restaurant. They did other things and the police were called, and when they arrived the Chinaman was defending himself with a cleaver as the best he could and having the worst of it. Then the sailors had the worst of it from the police, and they complained that the Chinaman had assaulted them first. When they appeared in court the court discharged the Chinaman and said four months in jail for each of the three tars.

ASKED FOR PROTECTION AND HAD IT.

The naval patrol put the "Silver King's" place out of business for some time Friday night. It was a case of calling a bluff; the proprietor said he needed protection, and he had it. The patrol cleared all the sailors from the place and stationed guards at each door, so that no more could get in, and the guards did their duty. Any one but a sailor could enter. The call was too strong, as the place needed the sailor trade, and finally the services of some of the city officials were called into use to have the "protection" removed. The shut-up had a salutary effect on the neighborhood, however.

AT COUNTESS SWIRSKY'S DANCE RECITAL.

Countess Thamara de Swirsky, at her dance recital at Freebody Park, will be assisted by Chevalier Eugenie Torr, a tenor from the Metropolitan Opera House. The countess will present for the first time in this country the Peer Gynt suite of four dances by Grieg, three Star dances by Dvorak, and the "Tanagra" dances, including "Orpheo" by Gluck, Prelude by Rachmaninoff, "Thedermauss" by Strauss, "Musetta" by Gluck and "Baccanal" by Glazounoff. Chevalier Torr will sing "Quelfizz," from Bizet's "Carmen;" a group of Neapolitan songs and selections from "La Boheme," by Puccini. The attendance of a large number of naval officers is assured.

CARE OF STATE RECORDS.

Placed in Charge of the State Librarian and Miss Tilley to be Appointed Deputy.

Both branches of the General Assembly passed an act Friday giving the state librarian charge of the office of the state record commissioner. The act originated in the senate, and was adopted in concurrence when it came to the house. R. Hammett Tilley, late record commissioner, died this week and the act provides a new head to his department. Mr. Tilley had served on the commission since 1896.

Senator Sanborn, in explaining the act, said it made no change from the old order, except in the provision for the appointment of a deputy. This deputy, it was said, would be Miss Edith M. Tilley, daughter of the late commissioner. The act follows:

"The state librarian, ex-officio, is hereby appointed a person to be known as state record commissioner with full power to appoint a deputy to do all things by law required of the state record commissioner, whose duty it shall be to prepare for the use of the state a detailed report of the number, kind and condition of the various public records in the custody and under control of state, city and town officers in this state, and such parish or church records as may be obtainable relating to extinct or active church organizations in said state, and, as far as possible, of the records and place of deposit in other states relating to the several cities and towns in the state of Rhode Island; for the purposes aforesaid the sum of $600 be and the same is hereby annually appropriated, and the state auditor is hereby directed to allow such bills for the same as may be approved by the governor and pay the same from any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

"The duties imposed upon the person heretofore known as state record commissioner, appointed under resolution passed at the January session in 1896, and all subsequent resolutions, shall in the future be completed by the state record commissioner provided for in section 1 of this act."
